Meet Our Board Members

The Spartanburg Regional Foundation operates under a Board of Trustees, with an advisory board for each of the Foundation's divisions – Cancer, Heart and Hospice. Each of these dedicated individuals is a leader in the Spartanburg community and has a keen interest in improving the health and well-being of the Upstate.

These volunteer members of the Foundation boards spend their precious time and utilize their skills and talents to help the Foundation make important decisions that affect Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System and many health organizations in the area.

Jamie Hodge credits his aunt, Katie Hodge, a Lifetime Achievement Award recipient, for putting the bug in his ear to actively participate in the Spartanburg Regional Foundation. Being a long-time business leader in the Spartanburg area, having doctors in the family, having siblings born at what was then Spartanburg General Hospital, and having spent time in the hospital as a kid with asthma, Jamie felt the Foundation was a good fit for him. The turning point came when his dad was diagnosed with cancer at age 71, and his family was thrown headlong into the healthcare system.

"It was then that we realized how important good health care is and we learned how good Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System is," he said. For this experience – watching his dad be treated so passionately – Jamie said that when the opportunity to join the board came along, "it was only natural."

Fast forward a dozen years and several positions on the board, Jamie served as board chairman in 2014.

"This is not a trophy board," Jamie said, adding that the volunteer board is very "hands on" with the grants and allocation process. "It's where the rubber meets the road – dispersing funds to help the health and well-being of our community."

Recently, Jamie experienced the hospital himself when he underwent a hip replacement. His four-day stay was "enjoyable," he said, adding, "It's not the buildings. Not the machines. It's the people. Everyone here is compassionate and caring about their jobs. An organization is its people and that caring starts at the top."

These are exciting times for Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System, Jamie said. Over the next 10 years, the health system will move to the next level of health care. Hospitals run on razor-thin margins and that's where the Foundation can help.

"These extra things make a good hospital a great hospital," he said.

Twenty years ago, the hospital asked its employees to give back to the community. "Methodically and passionately, they engaged employees to take on some emotional ownership," Jamie said. "The Foundation can take credit for creating that culture."

Jamie turned over the Foundation chairmanship in January 2015. He's confident he's leaving the Foundation in good shape. "It's been a tremendous honor to be chosen as chair."

Brenda James

IMMEDIATE PAST FOUNDATION BOARD OF TRUSTEES CHAIR

Having served on the board for more than a dozen years, in 2014 as the immediate past board chair, Brenda James is proud to be an ambassador for Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System. It's been her role – and the role of the board – to champion the healthcare system's efforts to improve the health and wellness of the community, and to encourage donors to contribute. "Large or small, it all helps," she says.

In her initial years with the Foundation, Brenda served on the Heart Division board. During that time, she observed a heart surgery, giving her insight into a heart patient's life and what the healthcare system and the Foundation are doing for the community.

"The goal of the Foundation," she said, "is to piggyback on what the hospital is doing. The more people in the community we can engage in supporting those goals, the easier it is to support health system and community health programs."

When community programs experience funding cuts from the government, the work of the Foundation becomes even that much more important. Brenda refers to the Foundation as somewhat of a non-profit safety net for hospital and community programs.

"We want to see health and wellness continue to improve, and grants do a lot," Brenda said, giving some examples. In 2014, the Foundation gave back more than $2.75 million for health. The Uplifting Event alone raised more than $100,000 toward mammography needs, and over $320,000 was directed to the Emergency Center. Other grants currently help support safety projects for children as well as healing arts programs for hospice patients.

"As board members, we serve as ambassadors of the hospital system," Brenda said. "I try to promote the Foundation as much as I can."

Visitors to patient room 619 will see that the room is dedicated to the memory of John A. Thompson, but unless you've spoken to Beatrice Kelly, you wouldn't know the passion behind the sign.

"My dad passed in 2000. I go up there every now and then. After you give so much, you can have a room named. It was an honor to do that for him," she said.

Beatrice (Bea) is a manager in Imaging Services at Spartanburg Medical Center. Her sweet personality and infectious smile make her easy to talk to. Add her passion for Spartanburg Medical Center, her compassion for patients and her love for family and you'll see why Bea is featured here.

Bea started at Spartanburg Medical Center in 1978 and has been in radiology and ultrasound for the last 31 years. She has been a contributor to the Annual Employee Campaign for most of those years; she participates in most of the Spartanburg Regional Foundation fundraising events; and she speaks glowingly of the many great things the Foundation has been able to do to promote health and wellness in the Upstate.

"I started donating in 1995. I feel blessed to be able to work here and I could see the good that was coming out of it," Bea said, adding that she believes it's a good idea to give back to the community. "We work at a hospital to help other people. That's why we're here. I give to the Foundation and participate in Foundation events. I'm just helping out."

"We work at a hospital to help other people. That's why we're here. I give to the Foundation and participate in Foundation events. I'm just helping out."

Bea Kelly

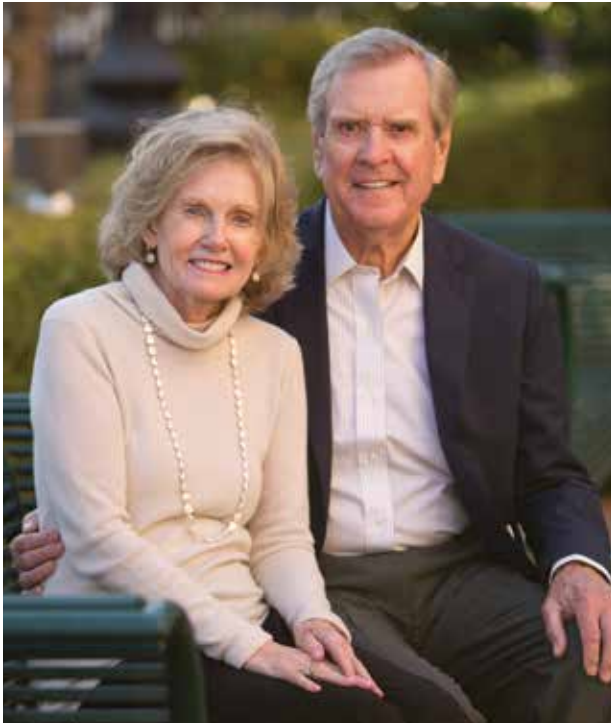

Bea said she often gives where the need is greatest, sometimes earmarking a donation for a specific cause. Both a sister and brother required hospice services prior to passing, she said. Her mother has Alzheimer's disease.

Bea attends the Wings of Hope event and releases a butterfly in memory of a sister who lost a battle to breast cancer. She attends the Festival of Trees and Hangar B because it's the right thing to do. "At the same time you're meeting a need, you're having fun."

The Bearden-Josey Center for Breast Health was built during her years at Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System, and she feels fortunate to be able to watch the healthcare system grow and offer more health and wellness services to the community.

"I don't really think about what I do. I just do it. Giving is from the soul of your heart," Bea said. "You never know when you'll need someone else's help. Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System is here for you. A lot of good things are happening here because of the Foundation."

Charlie and Judy Bradshaw

JUDY BRADSHAW FOUNDATION

Charlie Bradshaw is an accomplished man. He was a standout in high school football and later played college ball for the University of Georgia, then Wofford. Charlie also excelled academically. The smarts combined with great business sense led Charlie and a lifelong friend to found Spartan Food System, Inc., owning more than 600 fast food restaurants, and overseeing another 1,500. Over time, Transworld Company purchased Spartan and Charlie became president of a company that included among its holdings, Century 21, Hilton Hotels and Transworld Airlines. After more than 25 years in the food service industry, Charlie came back to his roots in Spartanburg.

But Charlie Bradshaw doesn’t want this story to be about him.

When you meet Charlie and his wife Judy, there’s an undeniable connection between the two that makes it easy to understand the most important story about the Bradshaws. They met in college and married shortly after. This year, Charlie and Judy celebrate 56 years. Together, they raised three children and have six grandchildren.

The Bradshaw’s story is about love, but not just a love for each other and their family. It’s a story about a love for children. A love for children who have spent time in the Pediatric Rehabilitation Department at Spartanburg Medical Center. It’s about helping children and their families, who might otherwise not get the help they need to live life to the fullest.

The Bradshaw’s story begins at Judy’s 60th birthday when Charlie gave her the “Judy Bradshaw Children’s Foundation,” a gift that has grown into an integral part of the Spartanburg Regional Foundation.

“If you know Judy’s heart, you know why this Foundation was right for her,” Charlie says with complete admiration for his wife. “She has done such a great job nurturing this Foundation.”

The Judy Bradshaw Foundation was built “to glorify God through the lives of children,” Judy said. To that end, the Judy Bradshaw Children’s Foundation, working in collaboration with the Spartanburg Regional Foundation and the Spartanburg County Foundation, has helped thousands of children over the years with needs ranging from a wheelchair and lift, to a fine arts program, to horseback riding for children in pediatric rehab.

The Foundation celebrates Judy Bradshaw for her tremendous heart, her dedication to helping others, and her commitment to children in the pediatric rehab program. In 2015, Judy was recognized with the Foundation's highest honor: The Lifetime Achievement Award.

The Judy Bradshaw Children's Foundation takes on its most visible role on the first Saturday in December each year. It's an event that leaves smiles on the faces of hundreds of children in the community – a huge Christmas party. The Foundation staff, which includes some Bradshaw family members, works with Pediatric Rehabilitation to identify patients and what type of gift might best suit that child's individual disability. Staff nurses and therapists pick out every gift specifically for each child. The gifts are wrapped by volunteers and are given to the children during the party, which has grown from 50 children 14 years ago to more than 300 today. The pediatric patients and their families are treated to food, magicians, balloons and jugglers, as well as small gifts for every sibling.

"Over the years, we have been able to watch some of these kids grow up and mature," Judy said. "We see what a wonderful job they've done."

Judy and Charlie can't say enough great things about the rehabilitation staff who work tirelessly to select a gift that best meets the needs of each child.

As for her own Foundation, Judy tears up when she says, "Outside of our own three children, this is the finest thing I've ever done."

Stories of the Bradshaw's love for their own children and grandchildren are interspersed in their conversation about the Foundation. In conjunction with the Foundation, the Bradshaws are heavily involved in an eating disorder prevention program in schools and a children's home focused on adolescents with this issue.

Their daughter fought an eating disorder for more than 30 years, eventually losing her battle. The Bradshaws are making every effort to prevent others from the same fate.

“This is a very giving community. People here give large amounts of money because they see what we do here and they believe in us.”

Julian Josey, M.D.

RADIATION ONCOLOGIST, GIBBS CANCER CENTER & RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Julian Josey, M.D. has been a Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System radiation oncologist for more than 40 years. As you walk through the lobby of Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute, doctors, nurses and patients greet him with celebrity status. Ask questions about the cancer center, his brilliant and lengthy career, and the expansion at Pelham, and a humble Dr. Josey says “None of this would be what it is today if it weren’t for the generosity of Jimmy and Marsha Gibbs,” and the support from the Spartanburg Regional Foundation.

Approximately 20 years ago, Dr. Josey along with friend and colleague Dr. Jay Bearden, shared a vision that cancer patients should be treated separately from those with other types of illnesses. Their needs, he said, are different from other patients.

“Cancer patients have a lot of fear and anxiety,” he said. “Over the years, we have done a tremendous job of affecting better outcomes, better quality of life and better cures.”

Years back it took some convincing, but the result has been phenomenal – multidisciplinary care for cancer patients, better access to clinical trials, and like-minded physicians, nurses and caregivers working together with total dedication to the treatment of cancer patients.

The Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute has demonstrated that a community hospital can make an enormous difference in the lives of cancer patients. From the start, the center has had the support of Wake Forest University and MD Anderson Cancer Center. Today, the center has locations in Greer and Gaffney with plans for a much larger destination cancer center as part of the Pelham Medical Center campus in Greer.

The original hospital built on the Spartanburg site almost 100 years ago has expanded and has nearly tapped out the 25 acres in Spartanburg. Dr. Josey said the county’s population is moving west, and therefore so will expansion and accessibility to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute.

Plans are to begin seeing patients in the new facility in 2017. The larger center will accommodate more than double the number of patients who can be treated in Spartanburg today.

"We're taking what we've learned here and will expand it there," Dr. Josey said. "We're going where the population is moving."

The new center in Greer will be connected to the main hospital through a skywalk. Using the same approach as in Spartanburg, the center will use a multidisciplinary approach, an inviting environment with lots of natural light, a learning center and patient assistance to navigate the system. Six renowned doctors will lead the team. The larger facility will allow an expansion in teaching and cancer research as well.

Plans are to begin seeing patients in the new facility in 2017. The larger center will accommodate more than double the number of patients who can be treated in Spartanburg today.

Dr. Josey plans to remain actively involved in the planning and execution of this major expansion project, including the recruitment of world-class teachers and clinicians in the field. "It's been a labor of love for me," he said. "It's been a great opportunity to see what your life's work can culminate."

Often during the conversation about the new center, Dr. Josey points to a large painting of Jimmy and Marsha Gibbs that hangs on the wall behind the reception desk at the Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute.

"I feel humbled by Marsha and Jimmy Gibbs," he said. "They bought into our vision (years ago) and didn't look back. He made a lot of money in his life, but it's what he did with it that's so important."

"He gets letters from patients with stories of how this place changed their lives," Dr. Josey said about Jimmy Gibbs. "We're going to go to the next plateau. Patients will come here because they'll get something they can't get anywhere else."

About the Foundation, Dr. Josey said, "They have raised a lot of money (for the Cancer Center). This is a very giving community. People here give large amounts of money because they can see what we do here and they believe in us."

Special Initiatives

A special “thank you” to the hundreds of employees and individuals from our area who recognize the need to contribute and the rewarding experience of giving back to the community.

2014 Employee Campaign: Love to Work Here; Love to Give Here

Employees of the Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System believe in the cause and demonstrate their commitment through their personal giving to the foundation. This year, they showed their support to the tune of more than $760,000 in gift commitments to the employee campaign.

The campaign focused on special needs funds, which help to lift burdens from patients so they can direct their energy to improving their health outcomes. Top recipients from this year’s campaign include the Chaplain’s Fund, Cancer Special Needs Fund, the David Ike Patient Assistance Fund and the Hospice Special Needs Fund.

Society of 1921 Gala

The Foundation appreciates everything our donors do for us during the year. At the Society of 1921 Donor Appreciation Gala, we celebrate our most loyal donors – those who give $1,250 or more during the calendar year. This year, more than 500 guests were honored for their commitment to the Spartanburg community’s health and wellness needs.

The Gala was capped off with an entertaining presentation by NFL football great and Hall of Fame quarterback Terry Bradshaw. Bradshaw recognized the guests’ engagement with the Spartanburg Regional Foundation, its mission and goals, and he entertained the audience with life stories and lessons from on and off the field.

Wings of Hope

To those who battle a life-threatening illness, the end of treatment can feel like a “second flight.” At the Wings of Hope event, individuals can release a butterfly to represent that freedom of flight. In 2014, more than $12,000 was raised and more than 100 butterflies were released in honor or in memory of a special loved one.

Cancer Expansion Plans

The cancer program at Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System continues to expand to meet growing needs. The health system is investing millions into recruiting the very best physicians and clinicians, adding new and cutting-edge equipment, and building facilities to ensure the best patient outcomes possible.

Led by a team of dedicated visionaries, plans for cancer expansion and enhancement will continue to unfold during the coming year. We express our gratitude for the community's warm reception of these efforts which will continue our place as the cancer care leader in the Upstate.

An Uplifting Event

This year, the Foundation took ownership of An Uplifting Event, benefiting breast cancer awareness, screening and care services at the Bearden Josey Center for Breast Health. The event, hosted in October in recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, netted over $100,000. Guests included those living with cancer, survivors, loved ones and women from throughout the community.

Cancer Division Welcomes John Dargan

John Dargan was named Senior Director of Philanthropy at Gibbs Cancer Center in the spring of 2014. In this role, John works closely with Cancer Division leadership to promote cancer expansion efforts and grow community support. John brings a depth of knowledge to this role after leading the Spartanburg County Foundation for the past 18 years.

"It is exciting to be working on behalf of such an important cause. I believe we can truly make an impact on generations of area residents through these efforts," he said.

A New Heart Fund

In 2014, the Heart Division added a new fund to help support patient needs: The David Ike Patient Assistance Fund. This fund was started through a gift from a grateful patient who wanted to honor his physician and ensure that people facing a serious heart diagnosis had access to education and rehabilitation. The fund will help patients with financial hardships receive life-saving care services.

Hangar B

It's not often that people get to party in an airport hangar. But every fall, the Spartanburg community comes out en masse to support heart services at Hangar B at the Spartanburg Downtown Airport.

More than 1,000 guests were treated to a great evening of lively music by Party on the Moon and the best barbecue Spartanburg has to offer. Hangar B netted over $72,000 and will directly assist patients in the Heart Failure Clinic and the Joe R. Uteley Heart Resource Center.

Heart Division Welcomes Jami Wood

As Director of Philanthropy and liaison to the Heart Division, Jami Wood works each day to promote heart programs in our community.

"I am honored to represent the Heart Division in our community, and work to benefit the outcomes of our cardiac patients," she said.

Jami began this new role in the summer, and will continue to be the champion for the annual Hangar B event benefiting heart services.

Hospice Special Needs Fund

More than $200,000 is given by our community each year to support patients in our hospice program who need extra care and assistance. These gifts support a variety of needs. The fund is used to provide holiday meals for patients and their families, as well as to help pay for expenses that allow a hospice patient to remain in their home during their final days. Every week, the Foundation receives heartfelt thank you letters from families who have benefited from the hospice special needs fund. This is the primary venue for hospice support at Spartanburg Regional, and we are grateful for the tremendous community commitment to this special need.

Festival of Trees

Almost 30 beautifully decorated holiday trees were once again a highlight of the season as the Foundation presented the Festival of Trees at the Spartanburg Marriott. The event, which lasted a month, netted more than $50,000 for the Hospice Division.

Hospice Home Investments

In 2014, Regional Hospice Home enjoyed several key enhancements funded by the Hospice Division. The most striking is the addition of a wonderful new portico which will shelter patients entering the facility during inclement weather. The new portico was dedicated in memory of Ethel Colyer, who was a tireless champion for hospice in our community for many years. In addition to the portico, hospice added a parking lot extension and completed painting and carpentry projects inside the home. The goal, as always, is to make all patients and their families feel welcome and nurtured during their stay at hospice home.

Last year, the Spartanburg Regional Foundation received more than $2.5 million in grants and contributions and gave back $2.75 million to improve the health of area residents.

Every year, thousands of area residents benefit from the generosity of our donors. We are grateful for the way this community understands the need to contribute in order to improve the health and well-being of their neighbors, family and friends.

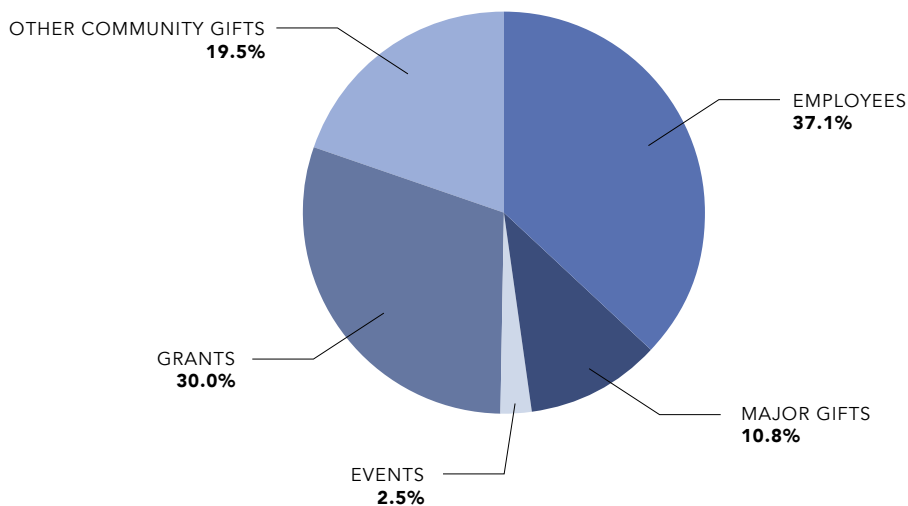

With your help:

- We provided the funding needed to educate more than 13,000 area residents about heart disease and prevention through the Joe R. Utley Heart Resource Center.
- We reached the 1,000 patients and families cared for by Spartanburg Regional Hospice.

- We covered the cost of 642 mammograms, ultrasounds or biopsies for uninsured or underinsured women through the Bearden-Josey Center for Breast Health.
- We awarded more than $640,000 in grants to the health system and community organizations.
- Our volunteers provided over 850 hours of service.

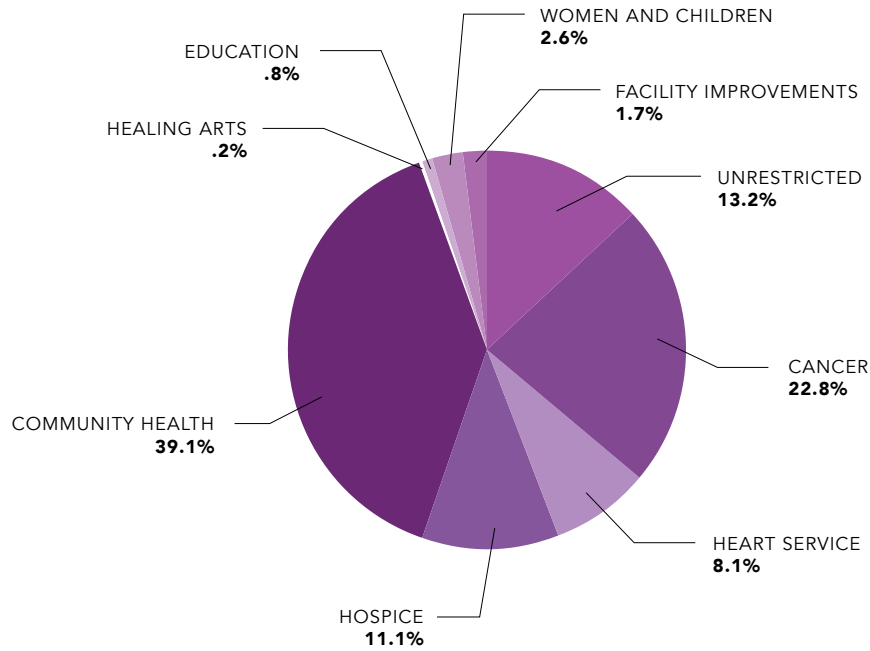

And, we are proud to report that gifts from 1,530 health system employees represent more than one-third of our 2014 contributions.

Providing Great Health Care to the Upstate

Spartanburg Medical Center provides world-class care with industry leaders in medical and surgical techniques. The Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System and its hospitals and health centers have been a partner with the community for more than 90 years and have earned a reputation for technological excellence.

We have nearly 6,000 employees with more than 500 physicians on staff. The health system sees approximately 100,000 emergency patients each year, handles more than 28,000 surgical procedures and delivers 2,600 babies every year. The health system continually receives accolades from the greater medical community, including:

- In 2014, U.S. News & World Report ranked Spartanburg Medical Center the best regional hospital in South Carolina. The hospital also earned high-performing status in nine areas: cardiology and heart surgery; diabetes and endocrinology; gastroenterology and gastrointestinal surgery; geriatrics; nephrology; neurology and neurosurgery; orthopedics; pulmonology; and urology.
- Readers of The Greenville News voted Pelham Medical Center the best hospital in the Best of the Upstate Readers' Choice Poll.

- Healthgrades recognized Spartanburg Medical Center for excellence in cardiac care. The Medical Center received the 2015 Cardiac Surgery Excellence Award and is in the top 10 percent in the nation for cardiac surgery.

Our regional achievements also stack up, including:

- South Carolina's first nationally accredited chest pain center
- The first South Carolina hospital to be designated a Magnet® hospital and the only one to receive this prestigious designation twice
- A fully accredited Breast Center, Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, Sleep Center and Chest Pain Center
- A Bariatric Surgery Center of Excellence
- The first certified Primary Stroke Center in the state

We're proud to carry these badges of honor and will continue to provide great health care to the communities we serve.
