Your Contributions Change Lives

Improving our community health is more than an occupation for Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System associates and physicians; it's our mission. We are extremely fortunate to have so many partners in the Upstate that share in this collective pursuit.

Your generous support, both financially and in service, make this healthcare system and our community better. In 2016, Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System and its affiliates received national recognition for quality of care and improving health outcomes – and you share in those successes, as well.

In 2015 and 2016, the American Heart Association recognized Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System with its Mission Lifeline Gold Receiving Quality Achievement Award for meeting high performance standards for the treatment of STEMI, a deadly type of heart attack.

Healthgrades also continued to recognize Spartanburg Medical Center for its excellent cardiac care in 2016, naming the hospital as one of the 50 Best Hospitals for Cardiac Surgery. And, for the third consecutive year, Spartanburg Medical Center earned the Healthgrades Cardiac Surgery Excellence Award. In January 2016, Pelham Medical Center received Primary Stroke Certification from the Healthcare Facilities Accreditation Program, becoming Greer's first and only certified primary stroke center. This past year, Modern Healthcare also named Pelham Medical Center as one of The Best Places to Work in Healthcare.

Last year, Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System and Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute, founding members of Guardian Research Network, also joined a clinical team organized by GRAIL Inc., a life sciences company focused on early cancer detection. Cancer centers across the U.S. are participating in a landmark effort, the Circulating Cell-free Genome Atlas study, which aims to develop a blood test for early-stage cancer detection.

From cutting-edge research on the genomic level to community-focused programs, our physicians, nurses, staff and supporters strive to improve the lives of those around them. I am honored to live and work in a community that places so great a priority on health, and I look forward to seeing what we accomplish together in 2017.

Healthcare System

Hope Made Possible by You

Dear Partners,

We are grateful for your support in 2016. We have had a tremendous year and could not have done it without you. For years to come, the patients of Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System (SRHS) and the entire community will benefit from these and other successes:

- The Foundation raised more than $8.3 million in 2016 – our second consecutive record-breaking year.
- Our grants program supported 27 SRHS departments and community nonprofits with $695,000 in total monies awarded.
- SRHS employees once again contributed more than $1 million to the Foundation. They help support a wide range of funds and programs, from assisting low-income patients to supporting the expansion of Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute at Pelham to providing for our tiniest patients in our Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

- The Foundation added talented new staff members while completing the year under budget.

Please take the time to read in these pages how the gifts to the Foundation from you, your friends and neighbors are making such a difference.

SRHS is a cornerstone of our community. Patients depend on our healthcare system when they face serious health issues, while education and prevention efforts are helping to keep individuals healthy. The Spartanburg Regional Foundation team is proud to support our healthcare system in all of these areas.

You – our donors – are helping to save lives and bring comfort to those in need.

Thank you!

Kristy Caradori
Executive Director, Spartanburg Regional Foundation
Vice President, Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System

Meet Our Board Members

Community leaders provide the vision for our work. Individually and as a group, the members of our Board of Trustees truly have the health of our community at heart. They generously give their time and talents to ensure that the Spartanburg Regional Foundation utilizes good stewardship of funds and maintains a big-picture approach to supporting the health of our community. These volunteers bring credibility, vitality and vision to all that we do. We are grateful for their service.

Passing the Baton

G. ASHLEY ALLEN AND SCOTT MONTGOMERY

After two years leading the Spartanburg Regional Foundation Board of Trustees, Chair G. Ashley Allen is excited to pass the baton to Scott Montgomery. Montgomery, Allen said, carries on the passion for service that is the hallmark of Foundation volunteers.

“Scott is well-versed in all the areas needed to lead our board of trustees,” Allen said, “and I applaud his willingness to serve.”

Montgomery has been a trustee since 2012, serving in many leadership roles including chair of the investment committee and treasurer. He previously led the Foundation’s heart division, where he helped make the The Joe R. Utley Heart Resource Center a reality.

Montgomery said he’s excited to move into the role of board chair and commends Allen for a job well done. “Under Ashley’s leadership, the Foundation has evolved to a new level. He leaves a wonderful legacy that I intend to honor.”

Montgomery has an easygoing presence and stresses that he wants to lead by consensus. As an entrepreneur, he is also a strategic thinker focused on goals and results.

“The Foundation should be run as a business,” he said, adding that he believes the organization is on strong footing. “The board has a talented executive committee, and our director has built a great team.”

Allen will remain as immediate past chair, and intends to be a resource for Montgomery while allowing him to take the reins. He plans to continue promoting the Foundation and said he is proud of the strides the organization has made during his tenure. In addition to impressive fund-raising numbers, he is pleased to see streamlined practices and a larger and more diverse staff.

“Scott is well-versed in all the areas needed to lead our board of trustees,” G. Ashley Allen said, “and I applaud his willingness to serve.”

“We have seen a lot of progress,” he said. “The Foundation has really grown up.”

When discussing the job he is inheriting, Montgomery exudes calm confidence. He understands the Foundation is a critical player in the health of the community and an important factor in “attracting people to want to live here.” Montgomery added, “I am proud to serve in this leadership role, and I look forward to what will be accomplished in the year ahead.”

Under Allen’s leadership, the Foundation enjoyed two consecutive record-breaking years.

Celebrating 25 Years

SRF HONORS FOUNDERS AND DELIVERS RECORD-BREAKING SUCCESS

In 2016, the Foundation recognized sixteen community leaders that started the organization with the group's highest honor: The Lifetime Achievement Award.

CHARLIE BOONE

PHYLLIS BUCHHEIT DELAPP

Twenty-five years ago, a group was formed to create a philanthropic organization to support Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System and to improve the health of the community. As a result of their efforts, the Spartanburg Regional Foundation was established in 1991 under the direction of the 16 leaders who served on the blue ribbon committee and the inaugural board.

To celebrate its 25th anniversary, the Foundation recognized these founders by presenting them with the organization's most prestigious honor: the Lifetime Achievement Award.

"Honoring our founders with the Lifetime

Achievement Award was the perfect way to celebrate our 25th anniversary," said Kristy Caradori, executive director. "Their vision and passion have shaped the health and wellness of our community and directly impacted almost every resident in our region."

Exceeding Expectations

The 25th anniversary marked several important milestones:

- The Foundation reached $52 million in cumulative funds invested in health needs.
- Foundation assets grew to more than $48 million, which will be used to support excellent care for generations to come.

- More than $8.3 million was raised, the largest amount in Foundation history.
- Employees of the healthcare system donated more than $1 million for two years in a row.

“We have exceeded our own expectations,” said Dr. Sidney Fulmer, a member of the blue ribbon committee and the inaugural board. Fulmer added that “development of the hospice, heart and cancer division boards has brought additional community involvement, reaching out to the community in ways we never dreamed.”

Former system president Charlie Boone, who helped conceive the idea of the Foundation, said he was especially pleased by the generosity of employees. He said, “Our employees are the heart of our system, and their support reflects their unwavering commitment to excellent patient care.”

“Thanks to the vision of our founders, we are on solid footing to impact health for years to come,” said Foundation chair G. Ashley Allen. “Our goal is to continue to exceed expectations for the next 25 years.”

Giving Back Through Grants

GARROW CROWLEY

In 2016, Foundation board leaders distributed $695,000 in annual grants through the grants and allocations committee.

When Garrow Crowley joined the Foundation's Board of Trustees in 2011, she was no stranger to service. She had already shared her time and talents on the Foundation's Cancer Division, and she was a regular volunteer and board member for organizations throughout the community. Still, the Spartanburg Regional Foundation held a special place in her heart. She learned first-hand the importance of excellent health care when doctors diagnosed her husband Chris with a serious heart condition. It was a wake-up call for them both.

"Each day becomes precious, and you prioritize health, family and faith above other concerns," Crowley said. "You also realize how important the healthcare system is for the wellness of our entire community."

Making a difference was a priority for Crowley, and leading the Foundation's grants and allocations committee was a perfect fit. Crowley joined the grants committee in 2011, became vice chair in 2014, and led the group as chair for the past two years.

In 2016, $695,000 was awarded to 27 projects that impacted health and wellness. "We always have compelling applications, and 2016 was no different," said Crowley. "We go beyond what's on paper. We take the time to talk with the people who have applied and to see the work these groups do."

Executive Director Kristy Caradori said the grants program is vital. "Our permanent funds address a wide array of health needs, and the grants program adds a valuable extra layer," she said. "It is rewarding to fund special projects each year that make our community a healthier place."

"Each day becomes precious, and you prioritize health, family and faith above other concerns," Garrow Crowley said. "You also realize how important the healthcare system is for the wellness of our entire community."

Grant monies in 2016 funded eyeglasses for homeless veterans, resources to prevent infectious disease, and cutting-edge technology and training.

Through grant awards and direct fund support, the Foundation has given back more than $52 million to health and wellness over the past 25 years.

"I am proud to be part of this tremendous investment in our community," Crowley said.

For a list of 2016 grant recipients, see page 28.

The Foundation has given back more than $52 million over 25 years.

A Birthday Wish for Papa

GINGER DAILEY

The loss of her grandfather inspired this teenager to request that loved ones make gifts to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute instead of giving her a birthday present. Since 2013, more than $3,500 has been donated.

Ginger Dailey knows what it means to lose a loved one to cancer. But as early as age 11, she realized she could take action to honor someone she loves, with an unselfish act that helps more people than anyone could have imagined.

“Whenever I’ve had a birthday party, I’ve put on the invitation that instead of a gift, people can donate to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute,” she said.

At the root of this generosity was a special relationship with her grandfather, Hoyle Roper.

She spoke with him every night by phone and enjoyed her weekly visits to his home in Forest City. If she needed a playmate, “Papa” was there. But by the time her 11th birthday rolled around, her grandfather, 76, had passed away.

A special birthday wish

Since that time in 2013, Ginger’s birthday wish hasn’t included presents for herself. Instead, to honor her Papa, she’s made sure friends, family members and several local businesses know she prefers gifts be made to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute.

“It was all her idea,” said Ginger’s mother, Tammy. “She has always had a heart for people.”

Ginger raised $500 that first year. She doubled that the following year. In 2016, she raised an impressive $1,325. Senior Director of Philanthropy John Dargan said efforts such as Ginger’s “inspire others to give as we raise money to expand cancer services throughout the Upstate.”

Ginger’s birthday donations support the Spartanburg Regional Foundation’s Cancer Special Needs Fund. This fund assists cancer patients with a wide range of expenses. Now in ninth grade at Oakbrook Preparatory School, Ginger is an honor student and dances competitively.

“Whenever I’ve had a birthday party, I’ve put on the invitation that instead of a gift, people can donate to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute,” Ginger Dailey said.

Tammy said that the doctors and nurses at Spartanburg Medical Center treated her father with great compassion. She is grateful for their efforts to keep him comfortable and to help the family understand developments as his condition worsened.

Her grandfather’s gift of love and time inspired Ginger. That gift has transformed to reach more people at Gibbs than either could have imagined.

Ginger said that she’s impressed “by how generous people are.” Hoping to continue the momentum, she is considering setting up a GoFundMe page to make it more convenient for family members from far away to contribute.

Julia Lyons

Lasting Legacy

JULIA LYONS

After being diagnosed with multiple myeloma in 2015, Julia Lyons wanted to give back to Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute. In her will, she designated that a contribution be made to Spartanburg Regional Foundation.

Since being diagnosed, Julia Lyons has been spending a lot of time at Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute. The connection she feels to the Gibbs staff and to her adoptive home in the Spartanburg community inspired Lyons to question how she might give back to help future patients. Her answer: To designate in her will that a contribution be made to the Spartanburg Regional Foundation. With this decision, she has become a member of the Foundation's Legacy Society. And her gift, she said, will support research efforts at Gibbs.

"I think research is so important," Lyons said. "I hope people can benefit from this gift. I hope we can come up with some answers."

A history of volunteerism

Lyons has long been passionate about activism and community service. In the mid-1990s, she jumped into volunteer work soon after moving to South Carolina from New Jersey with her late husband, Bernard E. Brooks. She became a volunteer board member for local nonprofits and went on to serve as director of the senior volunteer program for the United Way of the Piedmont.

She has been a supporter of the Spartanburg Regional Foundation for years. Since 2013, prior to her cancer diagnosis, Lyons has served on the Board of Trustees for the Spartanburg Regional Foundation. She is now part of the committee that oversees and supports the Foundation's grants program.

"I have really enjoyed being on the grants committee and having the chance to help the Foundation in its efforts to support organizations that make our community healthier and stronger," she said.

Looking forward

Lyons' experience with multiple myeloma, a form of cancer that affects white blood cells, has not been an easy one. But she said caregivers at Gibbs have provided a sense of compassion and hope. "They are always uplifting," she said. "They are warm and understanding and patient. It's like family."

"I think research is so important," Julia Lyons said. "I hope people can benefit from this gift. I hope we can come up with some answers."

With their care and support, she's feeling well, despite ongoing chemotherapy. She describes her condition as "incurable, but treatable." She has been getting positive reports from her doctors and has an optimistic view of her treatment.

Lyons knows there are no guarantees when it comes to cancer treatment and research. But her planned legacy gift is, for her, an opportunity "to step up to the plate." She wants to help open new doors, to discover new possibilities, here where she's put down roots.

"I decided long ago that Spartanburg is home to me," Lyons said. And through volunteerism and gifts, she's making important contributions to make it even better for everyone in the future.

SRHS Employee Pays it Forward

BETTY WARLICK

Staff members are among the Foundation's most generous donors, giving because it helps the patients they serve. Contributing is also an expression of their commitment to Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System.

Throughout her career, Betty Warlick, RN, has worked hard to teach and model the kind care that her own nurses showed her as a teenager, when she was hospitalized for weeks after a horseback riding accident. She became a nurse and a compassionate advocate for patients. But further, this now-beloved figure on the campus of Spartanburg Medical Center has also become an advocate for other nurses and the healthcare system as a whole.

"I'll never forget the nurses and how good they were to me as a teenager," she recalls of her care after a broken hip. "They taught me that patients want to know that you care for them."

It was this experience that steered her to a lifetime of passion for nursing and for her colleagues. Staff members like Warlick are among the Foundation's most generous donors. They give because it helps the patients they serve and because it's an expression of their commitment to Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System. In addition, employees throughout the system have a direct view of the impact of the Spartanburg Regional Foundation's work.

Warlick has a more direct view than many. In her current role as director of Corporate Education, Continuing Medical Education and Language Services, she sees firsthand how donations from the community ensure that nurses have the knowledge and support they need. One of her roles is to partner with the Foundation to coordinate nursing scholarship funds for undergraduate students, as well as for SRHS nurses pursuing advanced education.

She's seen the impact of these nursing scholarships on several hundred professionals during her tenure as chair of the Foundation Nursing Scholarship Committee. As further testament to her devotion to giving, both to health care and to education, her husband, Hal, created a nursing scholarship in her honor.

"We must have compassion for patients and their families," Betty Warlick said. "That is absolutely paramount for having a good healthcare system."

Today, Warlick conducts orientation for more than 1,000 new associates annually. She coordinates hundreds of nursing students, as well as Project SEARCH, which provides job training for young adults with disabilities. She and her team also facilitate the education of professional staff through the American Heart Association, the Simulation Center and the Learning Management System. All of these experiences, as well as her childhood injury, inform her philosophy.

"We must have compassion for patients and their families," she said. "That is absolutely paramount for having a good healthcare system."

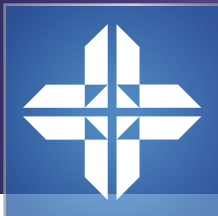

This philosophy extends to her own giving. "We have a fabulous healthcare system," she said. "And it's wonderful to see how the Foundation supports it."

Betty Warlick

Love to Give Here

EMPLOYEES GIVE MORE THAN $15 MILLION IN 25 YEARS

For two years in a row, Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System employees have contributed more than $1 million to the Foundation, donating more than $15 million during the past 25 years.

More than $15 million: That's how much money Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System employees have contributed over the 25-year history of the Foundation.

Ask why employees donate, and you'll hear answers similar to those of longtime supporter "Doc" Hines, who works in facilities. "I have been blessed," he said. "I have a good job with the system, and I work with fine people. This is a great way for me to give back."

Director of Medical Education Angie Ayers puts it this way: "I've been fortunate to have received support during my career at SRHS, and I want to support the system and help patients in need."

Ayers and Hines are among those who have given consistently since the inception of the Foundation.

Generosity in action

Former system president Charlie Boone recalls that when the Spartanburg Regional Foundation was created, there was a hope that employees would participate. He was optimistic about their support and said, "They have exceeded my expectations."

Director of Philanthropy Shelly Sinclair, who leads the annual employee campaign, notes that employee giving has grown steadily in recent years. For two years in a row, staff contributions have topped more than $1 million.

Reasons for giving

"Employees are proud of the work they do," Sinclair said. "They care about their patients. They want to go above and beyond to help patients and make our healthcare system stronger." Like other donors, employees have diverse interests when it comes to giving.

Hines said he lost his father to cancer, so he often directs his gifts to cancer research and to the holiday meals program for Spartanburg Regional Hospice.

"I believe in supporting the building projects the system has undertaken so that we can be on the forefront of innovation," Anita Butler said.

Ayers has donated to a variety of funds over the years and was especially proud to support the creation of AccessHealth, which serves uninsured members of the community.

Like many employees, Anita Butler, vice president of post-acute care, has also supported numerous priorities – including capital campaigns. "I believe in supporting the building projects so that we can be on the forefront of innovation," she said.

Thousands of employee donors have allowed the Spartanburg Regional Foundation to invest more than $52 million to support health. "I am proud to give to the Foundation and will continue to make this a priority for my personal philanthropy," Butler said.

The staff members pictured above are among the more than 50 SRHS employees who have donated consistently since the creation of the Foundation.

An Uplifting Event—Sold Out Two Years in a Row Coming Together to Stop Breast Cancer

More than 600 people attended An Uplifting Event in October 2016 at the Spartanburg Marriott. This was the second consecutive year that the luncheon was sold out, netting over $125,000 for the Bearden-Josey Center for Breast Health's (BJCBH) two mammography assistance funds. The Mammography Assistance Fund and the Missy Rowland Turner Fund help low-income and uninsured women obtain mammograms and physician consults.

Co-chaired by Carole Davis and Lib Orr, the luncheon featured cancer survivor and activist Jennifer Orseck and BJCBH Medical Director Larry Warren, MD. Luncheon attendees left the event truly "Uplifted" and motivated to share the importance of early detection.

Taking Care, Even on the Road

More than 30,000 women chose Bearden-Josey Center for Breast Health for their mammogram screening in the past year. And women are finding access is easier than ever — both in cost and location.

“Thanks to the support of the Spartanburg Regional Foundation, we can help you regardless of your ability to pay,” said Mary Mabry, director of the Bearden-Josey Center for Breast Health. “That’s the beauty of having the community’s support of the Foundation.”

Plus, a growing number of women are taking advantage of the convenience of the center’s mobile mammography unit, a 48-foot van equipped with trained staff and advanced equipment. This service is especially helpful for people who might lack transportation, Mabry said.

About 300 patients received direct assistance through the Cancer Special Needs Fund in 2016. The fund pays for needs such as transportation, gas cards, utility bills and medications for low-income patients.

Foundation Supports Expansion from the Ground Up

“With the support of the Foundation, the expansion of Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute at Pelham is starting from the ground up,” said Timothy Yeatman, MD, director and president of Gibbs Cancer Center & Research Institute. “We have designed a facility that is conducive to teamwork, and with it, we will be teaming up the best minds in medicine to care for our patients.”

Yeatman speaks with excitement about this $65 million effort, and about the role the Spartanburg Regional Foundation has in continuing to raise funds in support of it.

The expansion will add 200,000 square feet for multidisciplinary meeting space and research labs. Associates celebrated with a groundbreaking ceremony in May, and preliminary work is underway.

Chapman Fund Supports Heart Patients

Following open heart surgery, Brian Holden’s doctor encouraged him to take part in Spartanburg Regional’s cardiac rehab program at the Heart Wellness Center. This is a medically monitored exercise regimen designed to help heart patients in their recovery and their efforts to maintain good health.

A local family’s passion for heart health enabled Holden to receive this support free of charge. Rob, Sadie and John Chapman created a fund in their mother’s honor: the Harrison Chapman Fund. This fund helps patients like Holden who cannot afford cardiac rehab services they need.

Holden has been working hard since last summer to get into better shape. He appreciates the quality of support and encouragement of caregivers, as well as the friendships that have formed at the Spartanburg Regional Heart Wellness Center.

“If it wasn’t for (the Chapman fund), I wouldn’t have been able to do this,” he said. “I couldn’t have afforded it.”

Mission of the Heart

We’re pleased to announce that Nicole T. Papst is now serving as our director of philanthropy, leading fundraising efforts for the Spartanburg Regional Foundation’s Heart Division.

“It is an honor to work with our esteemed Heart Center and passionate division members to enhance heart health in our community,” Papst said. “Together, we are making health care possible for those who may not have the resources.”

Happy Birthday to the Home that Spartanburg Built

Spartanburg Regional Hospice Home Turns 10

In 2016, we celebrated the 10th anniversary of the Spartanburg Regional Hospice Home, “the home that Spartanburg built.” Ten years ago, donors throughout the community contributed to the Spartanburg Regional Foundation to open this special place. Over the years, more than 2,600 patients and thousands of their loved ones have taken advantage of the important services provided here.

“While Spartanburg Regional Hospice continues to provide robust at-home services for patients, the Spartanburg Regional Hospice Home has become a key part of the hospice program,” said Kim Ross, director of Spartanburg Regional Hospice, Palliative Care and Senior Health.

“It has become an important fixture for patients during the last days of their lives, as well as for respite care when they or their loved ones need extra support.”

Spartanburg Regional Hospice volunteers served a total of 4,333 hours in 2016.

The Hospice Special Needs Fund provided prepaid grocery cards for more than 500 patients in need.

The Hospice Special Needs Fund provided handcrafted holding crosses for 225 patients and their family members.

With the Spartanburg Regional Foundation’s support, Spartanburg Regional Hospice bereavement services provided 584 individual counseling sessions.

Meet Our Team

New Senior Director hits the ground running

In August, the Spartanburg Regional Foundation welcomed Amie Busbee as the new senior director of operations. Busbee is a Certified Public Accountant who brings a wealth of experience in nonprofit operations and financial management, and she has hit the ground running. She oversees all operations, including the management of each donation received by the Foundation, and has a lead role in working with the investment and audit committees of the Board of Trustees.

“We are thrilled Amie is here,” said Executive Director Kristy Caradori. “She has a strong background in accounting and understands the world of nonprofits and philanthropy. Amie is a joy to work with – a great fit for our team.”

Busbee came to the Foundation from the South Carolina ETV Endowment, where she helped guide that organization to earn the top four-star rating for financial health and for commitment to accountability and transparency, given by the renowned Charity Navigator organization.

Busbee said she was drawn to the Spartanburg Regional Foundation because of its reputation for supporting the health and wellness of our community.

“I love how funds raised by the Foundation are invested back into the community in so many ways,” she said. “Providing holiday meals for Spartanburg Regional Hospice patients and their families, placing lifesaving AEDs at key locations around the community, and performing cancer screenings for those in need – those are just a few examples of how the Foundation gives back.”
